

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A heat sink comprising: a heat dissipating portion comprising a plurality of metal fins each having a heat receiving portion and a heat dissipating portion having elasticity; a fin fixing member to transfix said plurality of metal fins; a metal plate having a plurality of slits into which said respective heat dissipating portions are inserted and press-connected thereto with use of said elasticity; and a joining portion to join said metal plate and said heat dissipating portions which are inserted into said respective slits and fixed thereto.